

A Note from LAMP on the Coronavirus

March 4, 2020 - In the case of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19), there are no expected interruptions to LAMP service or operations. The LAMP business continuity plan enables employees to remotely conduct all operations through a secured Internet connection on our cloud-based technology.

In accordance with government guidelines, LAMP will comply with any required quarantines and has protocols in place to inform employees and clients in such an event.

The global COVID-19 outbreak is an ongoing situation and has been the subject of much media coverage. While there are currently no confirmed cases in Louisiana, the uncertainty surrounding this virus continues throughout the country. We are working with all of our service providers as we continue to monitor the situation and will provide you with any necessary updates.

For more information about preventing the spread of COVID-19 in your community, click here.

As always, please feel free to contact us with any questions.