The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) voted on November 2, 2022, to raise the Fed Funds Target Rate by 75 basis points.

Interest Rates on the Rise

Here's What You Need to Know:

The Federal Reserve raised rates by 75 basis points (bps) for the fourth straight meeting in an attempt to address inflation. Despite these efforts, broad based inflation continues to dampen the current economic outlook. In addition to the 375 bps of tightening already in place this year, an additional rate hike is anticipated at the FOMC's December meeting as inflation remains far too high.
